Fairfax, Va

The National Public Range Conference is designed to deliver real solutions to real issues facing public shooting ranges across the nation. This four-day conference is specifically tailored to the needs of public agencies who are interested in building or making improvements to outdoor public shooting ranges. The conference features classroom instruction on all areas of range construction and management from Lead Abatement to backstops and everything in between. It also features breakout sessions, networking opportunities, as well as hands on learning at the state-of-the-art NRA Range in Fairfax, VA.

City, County, State or Federal Agencies that are looking to construct or improve upon existing public ranges are invited to attend.

Registration costs $100 per attendee and attendance is limited to the first 200 registered participants.
